Sets with few rational points

Georges Comte

Abstract

We explain how to prove that some categories of sets contain few rational points (of bounded height). The sets we are going to investigate are subanalytic p-adic, or even definable sets in some more general non archimedean context, as well as real sets slowly oscillating.